Where Learning Meets Fun and Builds Character

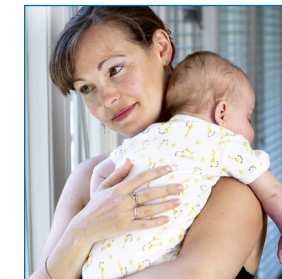

Early childhood is a time of great discovery and excitement, as well as a periods of astonishing growth and development.

Tampa General Hospital's state-of-the-art facility provides an environment that allows children to explore their world by using all of their senses, to experience how things work, to express their ideas, and to solve problems independently. This also encourages a child to develop new concepts and acquire critical thinking and reasoning skills.

The selection of high quality teachers and commitment to low child/teacher ratios are essential to maintaining Tampa General's high standards of care and education. All potential teachers are carefully screened, looking in particular at formal education and previous experience in the child care field. An extensive background check is also performed.
